NC police charge man with human trafficking after 16-year-old girl dies of apparent overdose

Dec. 31, 2020

A teenager is dead from an apparent drug overdose after police say a man held the girl against her will and forced her to perform commercial sex acts.

Anthony Cox was nabbed Tuesday by Greenville police and charged with human trafficking, sexual servitude of a child, promoting prostitution, contributing to the delinquency of a minor, and statutory rape of a child.
